Cougar Newsletter

December 6—December 14

Have you heard the excitement from your kids this week? Have they told you they now know how to code? It's been a pretty exciting thing to see! Every single grade level from kindergarten through sixth grade has learned how to code miniature robots on their own! They actually wrote code and were successful! Ask your children about Ozobots! Ask them how they wrote code and what happens with different sequences of code! They can tell you! All of our students have spent the week collaborating with our librarian Mrs. Hilbert learning this skill! Our sixth grade traveled to our MIC campus and worked with engineers coding! We called this Hour of Code! Please, please talk to your children about their exciting week!

Educationally,

Ms. Sample

Tips for Parents:

Zearn.org is a great tool for practicing math skills. It follows our school curriculum and is used by several teachers.
